What it does:

- No meals.
- No gifts.
- No corporate contributions.

There is no doubt that the elections held November 4th were historic. Republicans extended their majorities in both houses with a gain of 14 seats in the House and a gain of 2 in the Senate. Even though this is a significant development, the story of the GOP capturing all 7 constitutional offices and all the federal elected offices culminated with US Representative Tom Cotton catapulting from a position of relative obscurity two years ago to taking out one of the strongest political brands in the nation, US Senator Mark Pryor.

STATEWIDE GAINS

In addition to winning the Congressional seats, the U.S. Senate, the Governor's office, and supermajorities in the state Legislature, Republicans also won all six remaining constitutional offices:

- Lt. Governor – Tim Griffin (R) over John Burkhalter (D) – 56.5-40%
- Attorney General – Leslie Rutledge (R) over Nate Steel (D) – 51.5%-45%
- Secretary of State – Mark Martin (R) over Susan Inman (D) – 60-36%
- Treasurer – Dennis Milligan (R) over Karen Sealy Garcia (D) – 60-38%
- Auditor – Andrea Lea (R) over Regina Stewart Hampton (D) – 56.5-38.5%
- Land Commissioner (R) over Mark Robertson (D) – 57-37.5%

Republican Asa Hutchinson has been elected Arkansas governor, defeating Democrat and fellow ex-congressman Mike Ross. - 55% to 42%

Republicans now have every congressional seat for Arkansas for the first time in 141 years.
